More Blagojevich Reactions
Reported by: Katie Shane

While the controversy around Rod Blagojevich continues, Illinois lawmakers are calling for the Governor to step down from office.

Representative Roger Eddy says he has wanted the government to go further and begin an impeachment process for months.

Eddy says the under the table deals have been going on for way too long.

"I think he has to really consider resignation immediately," Eddy said. "He has not been a good public servant and we will see how not good in the near future but at least at these point he could do the right this so the state could more forward. There are literally millions in this state that are suffering from his poor leadership."

Illinois US Senator Richard Durbin is also taking a stand.

He is asking state lawmakers for a special election to replace president-elect Obama.
